

News

Office of Medical Information
The University of Texas

Southwestern Medical Center at Dallas

March 5, 1991

CONTACT: David Doremus
Office: 214/688-3404
Home: 814/496-8571

****Simmons takes part in groundbreaking
for new cancer center

DALLAS -- Dallas businessman Harold Simmons takes time out today (Tuesday) from his quest for control of Lockheed...the defense and aerospace giant...to help break ground for a new research tower at UT Southwestern Medical Center. Named in honor of Simmons' parents...it will house a comprehensive cancer center. Both were made possible by Simmons' 41-million-dollar gift to UT Southwestern in December 1988...the largest gift in the history of Texas higher education. It is the first of six new research buildings planned for a 30-acre site one-half mile from UT Southwestern's main campus in northwest Dallas. The building is slated for completion in February 1993.

###

Note: The University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center at Dallas comprises Southwestern Medical School, Southwestern Graduate School of Biomedical Sciences and Southwestern Allied Health Sciences School.