DALLAS--A widely-known geneticist, Dr. Arno G. Motulsky, will be lecturer at the annual banquet of the medical honor society, Alpha Omega Alpha, in Dallas Feb. 17.

Dr. Motulsky, professor of medicine and genetics at the University of Washington's School of Medicine in Seattle, will have as his topic, "Human Genetics, Society and Medicine."

In addition, he will conduct a faculty seminar at The University of Texas Southwestern Medical School during the afternoon of that date, according to Dr. Andres Goth, secretary-treasurer of AOA. The banquet will be at the Dallas Club that evening.

The Gamma Chapter of Alpha Omega Alpha was installed at UTSMS more than 20 years ago. Top junior and senior medical students comprise the membership. Dr. Jean D. Wilson is counsellor.
