DALLAS--Representatives of southern medical schools will meet here Nov. 17 and 18 for a workshop on self-instructional materials.

The University of Texas Southwestern Medical School's Instructional Communications Division will be host to the representatives from Galveston, Houston, San Antonio, and Oklahoma City. Sessions will be held in the Travelodge Northwest at 4500 Harry Hines.

The workshop will be presented by Dr. Rita B. Johnson, head of instructional development at the University of North Carolina School of Medicine and Dr. Stuart R. Johnson, director of the Self-Instructional Materials Project for the Southern Medical School Consortium.

The consortium, under whose auspices the workshop is being held, consists of 29 southern medical colleges.
