

Maxine

The normal man living next door killed his perfect wife today

Bludgeoned her with a feather

She pretended to be dead

And he pretended to care

Their children, a cat named Maxine and a Hummer named Art, pretended to be orphans

He disposed of her body using lye and heat

Technically, alkaline hydrolysis;

Flameless cremation, aquamation, biocremation or resomation to the lay-person

He was not a lay-person

Just a lyer who pretended to care

What will become of them?!

Does that bother you?

I figured not

Does that bother you?

Do they even know where the nearest orphanage is?

I think it's near the mall

Or you can shop online

Lying pretenders receive a 10% discount by entering a coupon code

I still can't wrap my head around it...

Who has a Hummer these days?