DALLAS -- Dr. T. Joseph Reeves, Director of the Cardiovascular Research and Training Program, College of Medicine, University of Alabama, will be guest lecturer for a symposium Thursday, September 5, at The University of Texas Southwestern Medical School at Dallas.

Dr. Reeves, who is Alabama Heart Research Professor at the medical school, will be the keynote speaker for a program which will include reports by eight medical students who have spent the summer in cardiopulmonary research projects at Southwestern. The summer program and the concluding symposium are sponsored by Merck, Sharp & Dohme, pharmaceutical manufacturer.

The program will begin at 9 a.m., culminating in a barbecue luncheon at noon in the Skillern Student Union Bldg. on the campus.
