DALLAS--Caroline Jones Mitchell, doctoral candidate at The University of Texas Health Science Center at Dallas, is completing internship as a clinical psychologist at Callier Hearing and Speech Center in Dallas. She has done previous intern service at Dallas Child Guidance Clinic, Psychological Consultation Service at Parkland Hospital, Dallas Independent School District and Southwestern Medical School's Adult Psychiatric Clinic.

Ms. Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reece Ward Jones of McCrory, Ark., will graduate with a Ph.D. in psychology at the end of the semester (January, 1974). At that time she plans to continue her full-time position at Callier.

A native of McCrory, she graduated from McCrory High School before earning her bachelors degree from Hendrix College in 1966. She earned her master of arts in psychology from The University of Texas at Arlington in 1969.

In September, 1970, following a one-year assignment as instructor in psychology at the Arlington university, she entered the graduate program in clinical psychology in the Division of Psychology at UT Southwestern Medical School.

In private life, Ms. Mitchell is the wife of Dr. Alfred Richard Mitchell, an assistant professor of math at The University of Texas at Arlington. The couple have two children, Amanda and Al.
