Thatcher to tour UT Southwestern

DALLAS -- The Rt. Hon. Margaret Thatcher, the former British Prime Minister, will tour The University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center at Dallas Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Thatcher, who has a degree in chemistry from Oxford, will meet with school officials and faculty members and will visit various research sites on the campus. She is interested in seeing examples of the latest in medical research and technology and its application to patients. She will also meet with two of the school's Nobel Prize winners, Drs. Michael Brown and Joseph Goldstein.

In addition, she will take the opportunity to inspect one of the nation's newest hospitals, Zale Lipshy University Hospital, the private teaching, research and referral hospital located at the medical school.
