

news THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS HEALTH SCIENCE CENTER AT DALLAS

Southwestern medical school ■ graduate school of biomedical sciences ■ school of allied health sciences

September 17, 1975

Contact: Ann Harrell (Information)
Ellaine Clay (Tours)

Special programs honoring women in science and medicine will be held on the UT Health Science Center campus during the month of November.*

DALLAS--Dr. Lorene Rogers, president ad interim of the University of Texas at Austin, will be featured speaker at The University of Texas Health Science Center at Dallas' salute to International Women's Year scheduled during the month of November. She will speak on "Room at the Top."

Dr. Rogers' address will open the event at 3 p.m. Monday, Nov. 3 at Gooch Auditorium. A reception will follow from 4 to 6 p.m.

Marking the special year's commemoration for women in science and medicine will be numerous campus activities led by other prominent women from a variety of professions.

Dr. Mary Esther Gaulden, associate professor of Radiology at the center, is chairman of the event.

Noon panel discussions have been set throughout the weeks. The first will be Tuesday, Nov. 4, with "Women in the University System," moderated by Dr. Bettie Sue Masters, associate professor of Biochemistry.

Other moderators and panels include "Women and Health: Current Trends," led by Barbara Cambridge, assistant professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology, on Friday, Nov. 7; "Women and the Law," moderated by Dr. Carla Dowben, assistant professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology, on Tuesday, Nov. 11; and "Women in Introspect," led by Dr. Judith H. Forgotson, assistant professor of Psychiatry, on Friday, Nov. 21.

Dr. Maxine Singer, head of the Nucleic Acid Enzymology section of the National Cancer Institute's Laboratory of Biochemistry, will speak at a graduate school seminar on Nov. 12. Dr. Joy Robertson, assistant professor of Internal Medicine at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Dallas, will conduct Internal Medicine Grand Rounds on Nov. 20.

--more--

first add international women's year

A violin concert by Norma Davidson, well known area artist, is set for Nov. 21 at noon, and an arts and crafts show will be on display in the Gallery cafeteria and plaza area during the event. Persons wishing to buy books on women in science and medicine for the center library may do so by signing a donor list in the school store.

Committee heads are Janie Covington, Radiology, coordinator; Suzanne Weakley, Medical Illustration Services, panels; Ann Harrell, Medical Information, publicity; Dr. Adriana Frenkel, instructor in Radiology, cultural exhibits; Ellaine Clay, Medical Information, tours; and Rosa Schachle, Biomedical Communications, reception.

Other steering committee members include Suzan Raymond, Physiology; Linda Timmons, Accounting; Kathy Taubert, Physiology; Ruth Thornton, Cardiopulmonary; sophomore medical students Beth Engelsgerd, Meg Kaufmann and Lenora Stephens; Robin Bier and Judy Wise, graduate students; and Debbie Wolfe, physical therapy student.

A complete calendar of events will be released in October.

All events are open to interested persons. Tours for school groups and organizations, as well as others, may be planned for November through Ellaine Clay (688-3403).

##