UT SOUTHWESTERN HAS 42 OF DALLAS' "BEST DOCTORS IN AMERICA"

DALLAS -- Forty-two out of 50 Dallas doctors named in a new book, "The Best Doctors in America," are faculty members of The University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center at Dallas. All practice in Dallas hospitals.

The book is based on a nationwide survey of 3,850 physicians who were asked: "If a friend or loved one came to you with a medical problem in your field of expertise, and for some reason you could not handle the case, to whom would you send that person?"

"What makes our survey of doctors so credible," said one of the authors, "is that we have the evaluating done by other doctors. Someone who practices the same kind of medicine is uniquely well-situated to assess another doctor's competence."

The book covers 350 medical specialties ranging from acne to neurosurgery. It was written by Pulitzer Prize winners Steven Naifeh and Gregory W. Smith and published by Woodward/White, Inc. It can be special-ordered through bookstores or directly from the publisher.

Dr. Kern Wildenthal, UT Southwestern president, said, "We are pleased and delighted. We recognize that it takes outstanding specialists to train the next generation of specialists. Our faculty members are not only distinguished teachers and physicians, but biomedical researchers as well."
