DALLAS--Dr. Charles A. LeMaistre, chancellor of The University of Texas System, will be a featured speaker at the UT Southwestern Medical School Alumni Association's annual banquet and reunion March 20. He will discuss the relationship of an alumni association and its school.

At the reunion, honoring the classes of 1947, 1952, 1957 and 1962, Dr. W.L. "Jack" Edwards will be installed as the association's new president, succeeding Dr. George M. Boswell, Jr. Also, former American Medical Association president Dr. Milford O. Rouse and Dr. LeMaistre will be awarded honorary memberships in the association.

Dr. Charles C. Sprague, dean of the medical school, will detail the progress of the current $40 million Phase One construction program.

All faculty are invited to attend the reunion, which will be in the Embassy Ballroom of the Statler Hilton Hotel. Reservations should be made at the campus alumni office.

Some 250 alumni and their spouses are expected for the reunion.
