SUBJECT: NEWS CONFERENCE

DALLAS--Nutrition is a subject that is discussed today at great length but that many times seems to spawn confusion and contradiction. From fad diets to pronouncements by government agencies, viewpoints on the subject vary widely.

At 10:30 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 15, Southwestern Medical Foundation and The University of Texas Health Science Center at Dallas will announce a major effort to establish a sound scientific approach to the complex subject. The announcement involves a substantial gift, a research facility and a widely-known expert in the field of nutrition. Officials of the foundation and the health science center, along with the nutrition scientist, will be available for interview. Location is the President's Conference Room, 12th floor, McDermott Academic Administration Building, UT Health Science Center, 5323 Harry Hines Blvd., Dallas.
