DALLAS -- Reports on summer research studies will be presented by eight students at The University of Texas (Southwestern) Medical School at Dallas at the Second Annual Student Research Day of the Pauline and Adolph Weinberger Laboratory for Cardiopulmonary Research on Tuesday, Sept. 2.

Guest lecturer for the half-day symposium will be Gerald Glick, M.D., of Houston, director of the division of cardiovascular pharmacology at Baylor University College of Medicine. Faculty supervisor at Southwestern is Jere Mitchell, M.D.

Students presenting papers will be H.L. Wyatt, Gordon R. Templeton, Joe A. Dean, Andrew E. Massman, William A. Freeborn, Gary W. Miller, James D. Houston and Dan C. Jones. Student papers will be presented from 9 to 11 a.m. Dr. Glick's lecture will be presented at 11 a.m.

All sessions, including a concluding luncheon, will be held in Room 710 of the Dan Danciger Research Center Bldg., on the Southwestern campus.

All of the students presenting papers spent their summer vacations in various aspects of cardiopulmonary research in the Weinberger Laboratory.
