DALLAS--Mrs. Linda Bumgarner, graduate student in microbiology at The University of Texas Southwestern Medical School at Dallas, has received one of two $3,500 Waksman Fellowships awarded nationally by the American Society for Microbiology Foundation.

The award for the coming academic year will support Mrs. Bumgarner's research studies into the disease mechanism and immune responses involved in gonorrhoea. The research is part of her work toward a doctoral degree at Southwestern.

The prestigious fellowship is named for Dr. Selman A. Waksman, Nobel Prize-winning director emeritus of the Institute of Microbiology at Rutgers University.

Mrs. Bumgarner holds bachelor's and master's degrees from Baylor University and Baylor Dental College's Graduate Research Institute. She and her husband, Don, reside at 307 Cedar Creek in Duncanville.
