

Song ten:

Does anyone else remember
Days on trampolines under oak trees
I do, thr day I gave myself a blackeye
Skip the cracks in a summer breeze

Somedays I remember
Everyday it hurts
It lives in my present
With messages it asserts

The bus rides to Sunday school
The long walks to clear my head
Who in here remembers realizing
The God they needed is dead

Somedays I remember
Everyday it hurts
It lives in my present
With messages it asserts

The guy who made me sing
For his smile and some candy
The one who made me hush
The one you'd call too handsy

Somedays I remember
Everyday it hurts
It lives in my present
With messages it asserts

Catching fireflies on a Friday night
Earth so tough only clay grows
He does cocaine, I stay outta sight
I see what will happen I already know

Somedays I remember
Everyday it hurts
It lives in my present
With messages it asserts

I can't watch him carress her
I don't dare touch him for fear
Today's affection turned slur
Poisoning everything I hold dear
